NEWS RELEASE
DLHQ-35-65 5 October 1965
